

V, Phd. 5:20 AM

I have read carefully the pro and contra debates (on various topics) of my colleagues in the opinion group (I really do not know if we are a group).

Various opinions, themes of global or local interest, perspectives that are not always clearly outlined or understood

There was talk of a possible paradigm of the future, which will be better and more prosperous for over seven billion people.

I am convinced that Lee has many keys to accessing information that is not public at the moment. I'm trying to evaluate where we want to get in the next years and decades.

I am trying to understand what Hegel was proposing with great accuracy to a philosophy of history (as to the future), as he analyzes the defining elements of lived or reflected histories.

These are largely subjective, because everything is reflected by their own consciousness, lived experiences and personal interests.

Unless we know the past in objective and existential terms, we can anticipate the philosophy of the future, with fewer ideological, geopolitical, macroeconomic and global financial interests.

But I'm skeptical.

If we understand the functioning rules of the past (in Lee's view) then we can build a predictable predictable paradigm of the future.

You should follow some mandatory steps.

Conceptual delimitation, tools and means of implementation, assessment of the effects of these new strategies can be a beginning (in my opinion, the process is ongoing for some years)

There are some questions.

If the various formal and informal entities (sufficiently discreet) have the paradigm in the left hand and instruments in the right hand, our discussions represent a simple exercise for the gymnastics of the mind.

I wonder how this new strategy will "work together" with two famous concepts.

Globalization and New World Order.

I think the principle dispute with the Vatican on Lee's attention will not be solved easily and in a reasonable time.

I start from the premise that Lee has consistent information that is not in the public space. (Did he, when he was elected the new pope, held talks on this subject, rhetorically speaking?)

I will come up with an example (interpretation is free)

During the 1980s and 1990s, some reference works built some paradigms of human evolution at the beginning of the third millennium (A.Toffler-The Future of the Future, The Third Wave, Public Reports of the Club of Rome, S.Huntington-The Clash of Civilizations. .).

By going through them recently, we have found enough inadequacies with current multidimensional realities.

Parts of advanced concepts have not been partially or totally validated.

Models were incongruous or the approach was wrong?

We can reflect.

Hello dear Fraternal Brother,

"We" as in (the group) is in reference to the combined intellectual competency of all 16+ groups collectively.

Even now as I continue researching various Empirical / Imperial definitions, common law as well as compendiums of judgements, I find only supporting precedence (legal grounds) for which one may of their own volition, prejudice & or prerogative carry out a campaign of holding Cestui Que Vie trusts without notification pur autre vie and further insure said interest against loss thus maintaining ownership / interest only subject to venire facias de novo.

Regarding where we go from here... Forward and by any and all nonviolent recourse available for remedy.

Allow me to contest that any perceived subjectivity or assertion of a inferred or circumstantial argument (without grounds) is of no benefit to any "authority" as this is a perpetual claim that may only invoke additional trusts as well as unannounced securities that one may keep involved with a preponderance of evidence leveraging sighted precedence to keep any issue of contest in litigation in perpetuity, that it became futile and only fiscally sound economics that the claims live by the longevity of the trusts defence.

Certainly by this juncture I have demonstrated the network and competence invoked by transdisciplinary methodology as well as provided verifiable legal position(s) for grounds... (albeit in a often intentionally vague & or esoteric fashion) to inclusively petition for obtain and benefit from "a" (eye roll) Cestui Que Vie Trust?

IRREGARDLESS of WHO INVOKES - Yet still exists?

This is the most relevant perception to gasp that has been provided.

Barring contest of any unannounced interest, said interest is known to exist.

Above and beyond all this, Sovereign Wealth is not the goal but an instrument of a living legacy concerned with shared higher objectives and intellectual capital appreciation.

Your vision including decades is noted and appreciated Velemir

Cyclical time the understanding of a great year, best positions us for preferred outcomes.

We create the reality in which we live and may learn from historical records to improve psychographic analysis cognizant of context.

I contest that it is self evident, causational paradigm influences exist... having already been deployed effectively.

"tools and means of implementation"

This is including all other discussion it generates, but yet one initiative.

"Assessment of the effects of these new strategies" can be a beginning (in my opinion, the process is ongoing for some years)

There are some questions."

The preponderance of existing empirical evidence confirms a transdisciplinary methodology to best optimize outcomes.

I've been nothing but this for years (-*-)

Our discussion may provide for Sovereign Wealth's creation, in that we let this.. our knowledge be but only used for the creation of Sovereign Wealth and yet available for other future seekers.

"On top of it"

Sovereign Wealth literally fulfills long existing prophecies that transcend cultural and natural boundaries.

The truth is save for a select few Sovereign entities there is no understanding of this within a historical context.

Honestly regarding a simple and clear summary may yet be outside the realm of what is best as to break this down to such simplicity would require taking a specific perspective and end up causing more harm than good. I thought this may have been one of the reasons I was originally provided this information that I would break it down and disseminate it and that the result would be nothing short of revolution and popular revolt. I'm not sure that originally it was considered I would perceive fourth and fifth order implications of such action and would as an initiative of the vision for Sovereign Wealth simply present it to the public thinking myself clever and content with the havoc and controversy that it would cause and gain support for SWUS.

Yes there has been discovered a source of significant wealth... it is in fact the very source of finance that provides for the sovereignty of nations. Additionally It was indeed created by the Roman Catholic Church, however I do not believe they have absolute control over how the trust now a legal fact is used. Perhaps you may understand it better in comparison to a computer game where the RCC created to game but since it's creation many have added various "mods" that are beyond the scope of this original developers ability to control.

Yes David, it is my intent that this available wealth be leveraged for the benefit of all humanity and not only to benefit economies but to fundamentally initiate a paradigm shift in humanity's collective social consciousness from one of the individual as a wretch that only might achieve success by all manner of backhanded dealings and taking advantage of others for personal profit and replace it with the understanding of our own true divinity and intangible intrinsic value and potential that is contained in each our free creative minds. That indeed the only thing that gives anything a value is the human mind and that without this intellectual capital and the knowledge of skilled craftsman we are left with nothing but rocks and dirt.

The true value is only limited by our perception as for where is this wealth located... it has always existed in each and every one of us and has merely been obfuscated over time in the name of motivating people through a time of great scarcity and in the name of progress.

(which I do not wish to turn into a blame game pointing fingers for all that is wrong with the world today)

It is for us to look forward with our own solutions for a new age and not to look back in judgement of decisions made out of context.

Who is this power you would concern yourself with? Recently I received a threatening call, I told him to pack a cooler of beer because I'd be thirsty when I got threw with him. We then had a laugh and moved forward.

The bottom line is that ultimately with this knowledge I don't have to go after anyone's existing wealth and may simply begin creating new wealth just as has been being done for nearly 400 years.

www.sovereignwealth.us

I am but one with the vision to see it's use holistically applied, where others have only seen some great conspiracy or an opportunity for their own profits... I see great opportunity for moving all humanity forward.

I plan to both provided annual dividend payments as well as make strategic investments in infrastructure, education, research & development as well as improve market stability.

It is my pleasure to help you understand David.

- Dear Lee,

I want to make a specification to prevent some possible undesirable errors.
I have understood the principles, the history and the way of functioning of Sovereign Wealths (thanks to you)

This will be an important component of a possible paradigm of the future of all, to which fundamental elements from other areas of knowledge will be added.

The vision will be interdisciplinary, complex and dynamic, the projected projection must be conceptually and logically well articulated.

It must cover all stages of scientific knowledge.

Theoretical, methodological and pragmatic.

That's how I see the problem.

You can go out on the "market" with a complete and complex model.
